SUPPORTED BY THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT

His Excellency Dr. Assem Al-Gazzar, started his opening speech by praising the organisation, saying that such exhibitions are linked to the efforts of the State and the Ministry in the current period.

Also, he asserted that the government is undertaking a very large development process at the national level within the framework of Egypt's Strategic National plan for urban development 2052, which was prepared in line with Egypt's sustainable development strategy 2030.

ARAB COMMUNICATION GROUP (ACG) was the first to foray into the demanding field of specialized industrial exhibitions it was established in 1986 to organize the first printing and packaging trade show in Egypt - PrintPack 88 . The company's early success was attributed to a professional and enlightened management that was based on introducing and exceeding the highest international standards paying attention to details meticulously thoroughly studying the industry's needs and a clear vision for the future.

WORLD'S 7TH LARGEST ECONOMY BY 2030*

The numerous infrastructure projects nationwide have cushioned the negative impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on Egypt's economy, especially growth and employment.

Egypt's construction and infrastructure industry continues to grow

Egypt is in fact the only country in the Middle East & North Africa region (MENA) where overall spending on projects has grown in the past two years. The government has carried out national projects worth 4.5 trillion Egyptian pound ($284 billion) over the past six years. President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi has embarked on a raft of megaprojects, which has spearheaded growth over the past few years. This includes the construction of roads, bridges, waste water treatment and power stations. The state's investment in infrastructure projects has been the pillar for growth during the partial lockdown. **

40 YEARS OF SUCCESSFUL BIG 5 EVENTS

FACILITATING BUSINESS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY

Organised by dmg events, The Big 5 takes place in Dubai every year during the month of November. It is the number one annual meeting place for the global construction community to network, learn and do business in the Middle East and beyond.

Since its start in 1979, the event has launched hundreds of thousands of products boosting the expansion of the regional market. It has facilitated partnerships, advanced knowledge and industry best practices, while serving as the gateway for international companies to access the Middle East.

Following 40 years of success of The Big 5, the event has spawned geo-adapted events, where core elements of the exhibition have been exported to new markets including Saudi Arabia, Kenya, Nigeria and South Africa.
